The Soul's Anchor Is the Hope of Heaven. It is not the conviction that something will turn out well, but the certainty that something makes sense regardless of how it turns out." For the Christian, however, hope in God is both — things will turn out well, and make sense, "in the day of wrath and revelation of the righteous judgment of God" (Romans 2:5).

Each volume of the well-written The Color of Heaven Series is engaging. Julianne MacLean deftly weaves the lives of her main and secondary characters into a story of hope. I especially enjoyed the way MacLean reminded us that all of our lives are interdependent and that, at some, point our stories interweave in ways we can never anticipate.

~~SYMBOLISM OF COLORS~~

The color blue represents Heaven. Blue is the color of the sky and a reminder of the heavenly realm. We are given a description of a glimpse of Heaven when we read of what Moses, Aaron, Nadab, and Abihu (the sons of Moses), and the 70 elders of Israel saw when they went up to worship God on Mount Sinai:

Purple: the Color of Royalty. Even in the secular world, purple is known to be worn only by kings because extracting the color from a certain sea shell is very expensive and so only royalty or the very rich wore purple. So too Jesus paid the most supreme price anyone ever could to save us...His own life.
